

Goals of the National Capital Consortium Pediatric Residency Program

- To provide pediatric training that will meet and exceed the standards of the Residency Review Committee (RRC) for Pediatrics as set forth by the Accreditation Council for Graduate Medical Education (ACGME)
- To prepare graduates of the program to successfully complete the certification process of the American Board of Pediatrics (ABP)
- To train pediatricians to meet the needs of the uniformed services
- To provide pediatric training that will allow graduates to successfully practice pediatric medicine in a variety of settings (e.g. military, academic, managed care, private practice)
- To prepare our residents to function with other members of the health care team in both inpatient and ambulatory settings so they may become proficient as leaders in the organization and management of patient care
- To teach our residents the skills for lifelong learning that will allow them to practice competently throughout their career
